

Seniors for Climate Action Now! (SCAN!) Special Election Event

Indigenous Communities impacted by the Ring of Fire mining projects in northern Ontario call the carbon-rich peat lands the "breathing lands".

“Ring of Fire Threatens The Breathing Lands”

Thursday May 12th,
7- 8:30pm EDT

Organized by Seniors for Climate Action Now! (SCAN!), co-sponsored by Environmental Haliburton,
in preparation for the provincial election

Featuring two climate activists who have worked together in the region:

Donna Ashamock, a member of the Cree Nation; affiliated band member with Fort Albany First Nation and McCreebec community member; executive steering committee member of Indigenous Climate Action and co-chair of MiningWatch Canada.

Dayna Nadine Scott, York University Research Chair in Environmental Law & Justice in the Green Economy, Osgoode Hall Law School and the Faculty of Environmental and Urban Change.
